Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety, security and convenience. I give phones to my children so that I feel that they are safer. We do not use the cell phone for conversation, but for emergencies or to let family members know about any change of plans. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share.

Please reject the proposal to move the collection to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Janet Jungk
